(Item 2) The Commissioner received and considered a report and recommendation for the adoption of a policy, as set forth in a memorandum from State Highway Engineer Noble and C. F.Bedwell, Chief, Department of Design & Construction, relative to the limits of maintenance, jurisdiction and responsibility resulting from State Highway construction as it affects County and municipal roads. Following a discussion of the details of the memorandum, the Commissioner approved same and adopted the following as the policy in such cases:

1. Maintenance of drainage lines entirely carrying State Highway drainage, but using County or Municipal roads to the point of discharge.
   By the State

2. Maintenance of drainage lines carrying both State Highway and County or Municipal road drainage on either State highways or County and Municipal roads.
   By the State on State highways. By the County on county highways and the municipality on municipal roads. (Agreement with the County or Municipality to contain clause which would permit the State to make necessary repairs upon failure of the County or Municipality and charge the cost thereof to the County or Municipality.)

3. Maintenance and clearing of ice and snow and other matter from roadways and sidewalks at under and overpasses. By the State within the limits of State highways. By the County or the Municipality within the limits of County or municipal roads, either in the original or relocated positions. Where there is an abutting property owner, it is considered to be his responsibility to clear snow from the sidewalk.

4. Maintenance of bridges over State highways on County or Municipal roads. Question of painting railing and other items, such as deck repairs.
   The County or municipality should maintain the roadway and sidewalk surfaces and the State the balance of the structure due to the fact that the State, by reason of the grade separation, has imposed an additional burden.

5. Maintenance of ramps, where County or Municipal roads are used.
In the event that the County or Municipal road is used as a ramp and thereby the State is saved the expense of acquiring property in order to construct a ramp, the State should take the County or municipal road over and maintain same.

6. Vision hazards and the responsibility therefor at intersections of State, County and Municipal roads.
The State within the limits of its right of way and on property purchased for sight distance.

7. Signs, reflector, warning, directional and others. Responsibility for erection and maintenance.
The State should erect and maintain such signs as it deems necessary on its right of way and on property purchased for sight distance.

8. Removal of trees, shrubbery on ramps approaching County or Municipal roads.
The State should perform this work if it has assumed the obligation of maintenance and has jurisdiction over the ramps, otherwise the County or Municipality should perform the work.

The above eight items outline the situation in general, but it will be necessary to reach an understanding by mutual consent wherever the situation relative to some of the items is rather complicated.

Public Utility Policy for Freeways and Parkways

(March 7, 1947) Approval is hereby given to and the following "Public Utility Policy for Freeways and Parkways" of New Jersey is hereby adopted, as recommended by Charles M. Noble, State Highway Engineer:

1. All new utility facilities, both aerial and underground located longitudinally with the highway, shall be excluded from permanent Freeway and Parkway rights-of-way.

2. The Freeway and Parkway Acts provide that the State shall pay for the relocation of existing public utility facilities disturbed by Freeway and Parkway construction. This will not apply in cases where the disturbance is occasioned for the convenience of a contractor.

3. The following principles shall be applied in the relocation of existing public utility facilities. The Act stipulates "renewal and removal of tracks, pipes, mains, conduits, cables, wires, towers, poles and other equipment and plants".

   (a) It is desired that utility crossings shall be made at grade separation structures and not across the Freeway and Parkway between such separation structures.

   (b) Where it becomes necessary to locate utility crossings between grade separations or stream structures, such crossings shall be underground and manholes or points of access shall be located outside the permanent right-of-way of the Freeway or Parkway. (See (h) below for modification.) Cases requiring large or heavy structures to accommodate the utility facility under the Freeway or Parkway shall be subject to special study and individual decision.

   (c) Where the Freeway or Parkway passes over a street or highway with a grade separation structure and when no traffic interchange is involved, it may be permissible to carry aerial utilities through on the under side of the structure provided the utility facilities are of minor character. (Minor character shall be construed generally to mean not more than a total of five (5) wires (cables)). In case of trolleys, both the trolley wire and aerial power transmission wires must pass under the structure. No poles shall be located in the street within the projected width of the ordinary right-of-way width of the Freeway or Parkway.

   (d) Where the Freeway or Parkway passes over an existing street or highway with a grade-separated structure when no traffic interchange is involved, and when no grade change on the existing street is involved, it may be permissible to permit existing aerial facilities to remain in place with such facilities passing under the Freeway or Parkway structure; provided the tops of the poles do not extend above the elevation of the Freeway or Parkway roadways. This is particularly applicable when the existing street is in a deep cut.

(e) Where the Freeway or Parkway passes under a street or highway, the utility facilities shall be located underground at the beginning of the grade change and continue underground to the end of the grade change.

(f) Where the Freeway or Parkway passes under a street or highway at such an elevation that little or no grade change is required on the street, no poles or other aerial facilities shall be permitted within the limits of the ordinary right-of-way width of the Freeway or Parkway.

(g) No poles or other aerial facilities shall be located within the permanent right-of-way of the Freeway or Parkway or within traffic interchange areas. (See below for exception.)

(h) Long distance high voltage transmission and heavy primary electric aerial facilities shall be the subject of special study and individual decision as to disposition. Underground telephone and telegraph crossings, where the Freeway or Parkway is in a deep cut, shall be the subject of a special study and individual decision as to disposition.

(i) In designing bridges crossing the Freeway or Parkway, reasonable provision shall be made for the future expansion of utility facilities in order to safeguard the policy that utility facilities shall be underground now and in the future. No rental charges will be made to the utility company for such normal number of facilities.

(j) Gas and water facilities passing under Freeway and Parkway roadways shall be constructed of extra long-life materials not subject to leakage. Valves shall be installed on each side, outside of the permanent right-of-way limits. Traps, drips, blowoffs, etc. shall be located outside the right-of-way of the Freeway and Parkway when feasible. When not feasible, the matter shall be the subject of special study and individual decision.

(k) Stream crossing structures shall be utilitized freely to carry water and gas mains under Freeways and Parkways due regard being given to required waterway capacity; in which case no special provision for long-life leak-proof pipe need be made.

(l) Where large water and oil pipe facilities are involved, special galleries of suitable design and size should be considered, having due regard to maintenance and replacement problems.

(Cont'd)
Public Utility Policy for Freeways and Parkways

(m) Where the Freeway or Parkway crosses pipe facilities (water, gas, oil, gasoline, sewer) where no structure is involved and where the grade elevation of the utility is such that it need not be relocated, the utility shall be rehabilitated, if required, with long-life materials of adequate strength.

(n) Storm and sanitary sewers which pass under Freeway or Parkway roadways shall be constructed of materials of long-life and adequate strength.

(o) Where it has been determined as necessary for utility facilities to cross under a Freeway or Parkway (other than at bridges), the crossing shall be made as nearly normal to the Freeway or Parkway center line as possible. Long diagonal crossings are not desired.

(p) Existing facilities which cross the Freeway or Parkway right-of-way at a number of points within the same general area should be combined, so far as practicable, to reduce to a minimum the total number of crossings. This will involve payment by the State for relocation work at locations other than at the site of the Freeway or Parkway when it can be demonstrated that such combination of crossings is the preferable method.

(q) In relocating and rehabilitating utility facilities with new materials, utility companies shall make due monetary allowance to the State for the deteriorated value of the replaced materials.

This policy does not include matters associated with traffic signals and illumination for existing streets, Freeways or Parkways. This will be covered under separate regulations.

Special problems will be the subject of special study, consideration and individual decision.

MINUTES OF MEETING-APRIL 9, 1947

The one hundred and eighteenth stated meeting was held by State Highway Commissioner Spencer Miller, Jr., on Wednesday, April 9, 1947, at 11:30 A.M., with the following staff members present:

Alex. P. Gray, Charles M. Noble, E. W. Kilpatrick, C. F. Bedwell, Edward E. Reed, A. W. Muir, John W. Aymar, Fred H. Baumann, James L. Hays, A. Lee Grover, M. L. Howell, Frank A. Reddan, Frederick Vollmer and Sackett M. Dickinson, Assistant Deputy Attorney General.

The regular Schedule of Business was taken up and the Commissioner stated that the items hereinafter listed in these minutes are approved as indicated, the same having been recommended for approval by the various Division Heads, and the State Highway Engineer or Assistant State Highway Engineer.

of pavement to accommodate the necessary number of lanes for moving traffic, and any normal drainage that may be required except as noted herein.

(2) In cases where a portion of the highway is to be used for parking and it is not feasible to eliminate parking, the State will construct and pay for the pavement carrying the moving lanes of traffic and the normal width shoulder. In case the Municipality participates in the cost, it shall be allowed credit for the estimated cost of the shoulder toward the construction of the type of pavement determined upon. The Municipality shall bear the cost of the full length of curbing, if desired by it for appearances or other reasons and not required by the State to reduce maintenance cost as in (3). In cases where the State would normally construct earth berms to retain drainage and the Municipality desires curbs for reasons as mentioned above, the Municipality will be allowed credit for the estimated cost of the berms as well as for the shoulders.

(3) In cases where it is determined that the cost of maintaining a standard improved shoulder would be excessive under normal highway usage, excluding parking, the State will provide full width pavement at its own expense, including curbs, where required to reduce maintenance. This procedure shall also apply where drainage conditions are such that excessive maintenance would occur.

(4) In cases where the roadway width is such that it is desirable to eliminate parking in order to accommodate moving traffic, and the Municipality passes ordinances prohibiting parking, the State will bear the entire cost of full width pavement, including curbs and drainage; provided however, that if the Municipality should at any future date repeal the local parking ordinance, the cost of the paved area utilized for parking shall be paid for by the Municipality at the original cost to the State.

(5) Where street intersections occur at grade and the intersecting street is curbed, being paved full width, the State will bear the entire cost of paving such intersections on its own roadway and as much else as may be required to afford proper grade and riding surface.

(6) Where interchanges and channelization are required, generally the State will bear the entire cost of construction. Special designs shall be prepared and a determination made as to whether or not the Municipality should bear any share of the cost.

FOREWORD
by Spencer Miller, Jr.
State Highway Commissioner

The 1948 Edition of Rules and Regulations governing the construction of access drives to State Highways has been prepared both for the guidance of the State and local officials and the information of property owners.

It is the purpose of these Regulations to outline the method by which convenient access may be provided to abutting private property on established State Highways. In granting such access, it is essential that there be no interference with free and safe movement of normal highway traffic nor the creation of areas of traffic congestion on the highway. These regulations do not pertain to controlled access highways such as Freeways and Parkways. Direct access to such controlled highways is prohibited by law.

The increasing public demand for protecting and enhancing the appearance of our highways represents a wide public appreciation of the fact that our State Highways are in effect the "show windows" of the State.

In planning roadside enterprises on such State Highways, the appearance of the roadside can be greatly enhanced if the owner will consult with the Maintenance Division before erecting such a roadside business. The owner might give consideration to the following:

1. Adequate setbacks.
2. Neatness in design of merchandising, building, and facilities.
3. Conformity of architecture to general surroundings.
4. Provision for ample and well-kept parking space for customers' cars.
5. Suitable planting of grounds.
6. Proper maintenance of buildings and upkeep of grounds.
7. The adaptation of the size and character of signs at roadside enterprises to the message thereon. At normal rate of travel, it is difficult to read more than one sign and only a very short message regardless of the size of the sign. Large and garish signs tend to draw attention away from the message and the business itself. They also detract from the appearance of the highway and may even threaten highway safety.

The foregoing suggestions deserve earnest consideration by all those who are contemplating erecting roadside establishments along our highways.

Route 25, Section 36A
